Individual learning reflection

Learned how to prepare a proposal introducing presentation, How to design colorful slides, and how to summarize the details of the project into set of slides with less descriptions. When we met our mentors, we talked deeply on our project. In that discussion I understood that we must consider on the commercial benefits and costs and all other business aspects in our project. From the Q&A session panel members give some suggestions to us. From that I understood that we need to carefully consider about the privacy of the customer, since our device regarding the security. At this moment the main challenge is to minimize the physical dimensions of device using the same technology (Arduino nano). According to the panel we will require a fast developing process for mobile application since we have only few weeks to finish both software and hardware modules.
